TREATIES SIGNED TO PREVENT WAR

GERMANY JOINS WITH OTHERS IN AGREEMENT

PACTS TO KEEP PEACE SIGNED BY EUROPEANS

President Coolidge Feels That the Initiating of the Locarno Security Pacts Has Paved the Way for a Disarmament Conference.

Locarno, Switzerland.—Europe's great security conference ended in a victory for peace. The European statesmen who made this victory possible threw open the window on the second floor of the Palace of Justice and, rejecting decomur, announced to the waiting multitude that the Rhine pact and other treaties had been formally approved.

One of their number held aloft the final protocol bearing the signatures of all the delegates as proof that the conference had succeeded in its mission.

Instantly the crowd gave vent to enthusiasm, rockets were sent into the air, their balls of fire narrowly escaping entering the windows and falling on the shoulders of the delegates. The appearance at the window of Briand, the French foreign minister, was greeted with prolonged cheering.

Briand's speech at the closing session of the conference, which adjourned with the understanding that the treaties will be signed in London December 1, was qualified by his colleagues afterward as the most brilliant of his long career.

Dr. Stresemann had spoken first. Summarizing the work of the conference and emphasizing that its success spelled a new era in European relationship, he declared solemnly that Germany would loyally live up to the peace pact. He made a discreet allusion to the foreign occupation of the Rhineland.

In response, Briand said that Locarno was not the end of an old, but the beginning of a new epoch—an epoch of co-operation and friendship. He gave unstinted praise to the noble ideals and generosity of the German statesmen who had originated the idea of fashioning security pacts for the maintenance of peace, and declared that the world would duly render home to this happy initiative.

"The people of France will soon recognize your loyal statement by an expression of good will toward the German people."

Austen Chamberlain, habitually cold and always master of himself, appeared to be at the verge of breaking down under the weight of joy and emotion which checked his words and made them almost unintelligible.

Washington.—President Coolidge feels that the initiating of the Locarno security pacts has definitely paved the way for calling another disarmament conference in this country, it was announced officially at the White House. There was no disguising the optimism at the White House over the outcome of the Locarno conference. The president was said to regard it as the most important stabliizing factor in Europe since the adoption of the Dawes plan.

M'NIDER IS APPOINTED ASST. WAR SECRETARY

Former American Legion Chief Named by Coolidge Order; One of Youngest Men Ever to Occupy Post; Recently Passed 36th Birthday.

Washington.—Colonel Hanford MacNider, former national commander of the American Legion, was appointed assistant secretary of war by President Coolidge. MacNider is a native of Mason City, Iowa, where he is identified with the banking business.

Announcement of MacNider's appointment was made at the White House after the ex-colonel notified President Coolidge that he would accept the post. MacNider had the backing of the legion and of his new chief, Secretary of War Davis, for the position.

Colonel MacNider will be one of the youngest men ever to occupy the post. He recently passed his thirty-sixth birthday. He was married recently.

Educated at Harvard, where he graduated in 1911, MacNider has spent all of his business career in the banks of which his father has been the head. He deserted a paying teller's window in 1916 for nine months' service with the Iowa National Guard on the Mexican border.

When the World war broke out MacNider entered the first R. O. T. C. at Fort Snelling, Minn., emerging a second lieutenant. He was immediately assigned to the Ninth infantry of the famous Second division and accompanied that outfit to France. He emerged from the war a lieutenant-colonel, after participating in practically all of the battles which decimated the Second division, and received the D. S. C.

He was elected national commander of the legion in 1921.

NORTHWEST STATES GET TASTE OF WINTER SNOW

St. Paul.—Three deaths resulted from winter's first general visit to the northwest. Snow fall varied from one to four inches.

Oneida county, Wisconsin, reported four inches of snow, Rhinelander dispatches said, and Red Wing, Minn., had between three and four inches.

Mild temperatures accompanied the snowfall in most places and the white flakes disappeared within a fe whours. Below freezing weather kept the ground white in other sections.

A light snow fell at Des Moines, followed by a prediction by the weather bureau that Iowa would have record low temperatures for the fall.

Severe snow flurries whipped by a sharp wind gave Omaha a wintry aspect with a drop of 10 degrees in temperature within a few hours.

Eliminates Much Red Tape

Washington.—Existing regulations for the conduct of army administration affairs are to be simplified and yards of red tape wrapped about business proceedings in the War department are to be eliminated. The tape disposal and the simplified regulations are to be brought about by Dwight F. Davis, newly appointed secretary of war, through approval he is to give to recommendations be made while assistant secretary. Former Secretary Weeks approved the recommendations of Davis in principle several months ago, but because of the illness which resulted later in his resignation as head of the department, they were not put into effect.

Monastery in Japan Burns

New York.—The Trappist monastery at Hakodate, one of the most important Catholic missionary institutions in Japan, was destroyed by fire, according to a cablegram received by the national officers of the society for the Propagation of the Faith. This is the second time in the last ten years the buildings of the monastery have been burned. Hakodate, at the southern end of Japan's northern island of Hokkaido, is the principal port and city of that island. It has been a center of Catholic missionary effort almost since the opening of Japan to Christian workers sixty years ago.

Engineer Dead, Flyer Speeds On

Syracuse, N. Y.—With a dead man's hand gripping the throttle, the Western Express, New York Central sleeper train, bound for Chicago, sped westward for a distance of nearly fifteen miles. Charles J. Foreman, fireman, discovered his engineer, William Vanbergen, dead with his head crushed, as the flyer came through Minoa yards, just east of Syracuse. Vanberger is believed to have been struck by a girder of a bridge.

Farmer 80, Returns to Law

Lincoln, Neb.—Finding farming does not pay after a 30-year trial, Aaron C. Reed is returning, at the age of 80, to law, his first profession. He was readmitted to the bar by the Nebraska supreme court. Reed was admitted to practice in Ohio in 1368, coming to Nebraska in 1879. However, he quit Blackstone for the plow in 1893, taking land in northeast Nebraska.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA CLUB TOPIC

The study of Czecho-Slovakia as presented to the County Woman's Club Monday proved as interesting as a childhood's fairy tale.

Mrs. Saunders was chairman of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Bean and Mrs. Morton. As an introduction the leader presented the necessary geography to establish the country, which was organized fro mthe districts of Bohemia, Moravia, Silesia, Slovakia and Ruthenia.

Later she gave a remarkably interesting history of the people, who maintained their nidividuality thru centuries of conquest and suppression.

After the conquest by the Austrians in the 16th century, many of the leading Czech families left their country of their own accord or were exiled, but thosewho remained, with the help of others of humble birth, but of great intellectual ability, managed to carry on the spirit of independence until the time should come when they could throw off the power of Austria and regain their freedom.

The opening of the World War was their opportunity and they were fortunate in having three great leaders, Prof. Masaryk, Dr. Benes and General Stefanik. Prof. Masaryk was a teacher in the University of Prague and a deputy in the Vienna Parliament. He succeeded in getting his country recognized as an independent power, fighting on the side of the allies. On October 18, 1918, their Declaration of Independence was issued from their headquarters in Paris.

America has good reasons to be interested in this Declaration for it was patterned on the American one and signed by Prof. Masaryk, first president of the Czecho-Slovakia Republic in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. He was allowed to sit at the same table and in the same chair that had been used by George Washington when he signed the American Declaration. Afterwards a new bell, moddellel after the Liberty Bell, pealed forth as the signatures of the delegates were attached to the document.

Dr. Benes was another professor at the University of Prague. He was placed in charge of Czecho-Slovakian headquarters in Paris. Now he is Foreign Minister of his country and is considered one of the ablest men in the League of Nations. He was chosen as chairman of the committee to draw up what is known as the "Geneva Protocal" last September (i. e. the best method of insuring World Peace). He is also an author of great ability.

Gen. Stefanik was a noted astronomer, living in Paris, and served as an officer in the French army. He worked with Dr. Benes in Paris at his country's headquarters, where the provisional government was carried on.

Miss Helen Kalas sang a group of five delightful Czeck folk songs in the native language, which she prefaced with an interpretation that added to the charm. She was accompanied by Mrs. Robson.

Mrs. Bean's paper was on the musical and intellectual life of these remarkable people. Altho no effort was spared to suppress every bit of their native music, some of the folk songs survived by being handed down from parents to children. They are a singing nation and music is an accompaniment to all work, games, and festivities. They have had several renowned composers, one of the best known being Dvorak.

She described their cities and schools. Not being able to maintain themselves by force they cultivated intellectuality and the per centage of illiterates is among the lowest in the world.

For their skill and business acumen they have been designated "The Yankees of Central Europe."

They are a decidedly religious people. Just recently they celebrated the 510th anniversary of the martyrdom of John Huss.

Mrs. Morton read a description of the customs and costumes of the people. The author described a gathering of the women as "a pansy-bed of color." He says "The costumes are a never ending delight. More and more however the younger generation are moving to the cities and engaging in occupations that do not leave time for the marvelous needlework and embroidery that has embellished their costumes, and they are adopting 'shop made' garments, colored with analine dyes."

They are manufacturers of fine woolens, pottery and the well known Bohemian glass ware. All over the country are organizations called Sokols in which gymnastics have held a prominent place. As they said, it was their best means of keeping their bodies fit to fight for their liberty when the time arrived. These sokols also foster music and intellectual pursuits.

The Chezks were the first of the Slavic people to become cultured. This is shown not only in their literature but by the architecture of their beautiful buildings.

After the program some time was passed in examining pictures of the country and people and some exceedingly beautiful drawn lace work handkerchiefs, which were given Mrs. Halamicek before her marriage and were made in her homeland.

At the business meeting two new members were voted in.

P. T. A. FEDERATION AT SUNNYVALE

The Foothill Federation P. T. A. will meet at Sunnyvale, Oct. 26, the meetings being held in the Baptist church.

The Board will convene at 10 A. M. and luncheon will be served the Board Members by the P. T. A. of Sunnyvale at fifty cents a plate.

The open session will begin at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Chas. Gray, District Chairman of Emblems and Magazine will address the afternoon meeting.

Save Yo' Money for dat Minstrel Show.

The teachers of the Campbell Union Grammar School are preparing a carnival and Christmas program to be given the evening of December 17. The P. T. A. of the same school are planning to serve supper that evening.

CLUB FLOWER SHOW PARTY NEXT

Among the social events in prospect the Chrysanthemum Show and party to be given by the Country Woman's Club the afternoon and evening of November 6, promises to be a very pleasant one, and will be a social and financial success if it receives the hearty support of the public.

In the afternoon the chrysanthemums will be on display and sale in the library. Several of the ladies who grow these show flowers are giving the products of their gardens for the affair. Punch and candy will also be sold in the afternoon.

In the evening there will be a card and mah jongg party in the hall and the ladies are hoping to make it a real Campbell party, without soliciting patrons from outside. Mrs. R. H. Hyde and Mrs. Ralston Alison are reserving tables and would like to have the hall filled. Provision will be made for all if names are in in time. Reserve a table and entertain some friends, or make up a "four some' and have a game to your liking. Some groups are planning progressions among several tables.

The proceeds will be used in reducing the building debt which the Club hopes to wipe out as rapidly as possible to save interest.

THE NEWSPAPERS SIDE OF IT

Once upon a time a bright paragrapher wrote: "A man's mail will reach him when nothing else can." Somehow the saying lived and flourished for a while and then died. It died because it was not wholly true. Admitting, however, that it is true that a man's mail will reach him when nothing else can, the "rub" comes when we analyze the meaning of "reach him." It is true that most men open their mail. For a good many years the mail-order houses have existed on the strength of that fact. But advertising must do more than "reach" a person. It must reach his needs, his sense of fairness, his desire and interest, and the conveniences of his pocketbook.

For every mail-order advertisement that actually "reaches the spot," that is, makes a sale, the newspaper can with eminent fairness claim a much greater result. The newspaper actually "reaches" its readers and the buying public. It is handed from busy father to busy mother. The young men and young women scan it. The children peruse its entertaining features. The newspaper is given credence because it is strictly a home product. It is, or should be, reliable. It is a part of the community where it is established. It is "one of the family." If a man will "walk a mile for a camel" or a match, he will, so far as inclination goes, walk five for his favorite newspaper.

What, then, has the newspaper to oppose? really nothing. Who, then are the newspaper's competitors? Strictly speaking, nobody. The newspaper's field is wide, with the conclusions of its possibilities unreached. No form of advertising ever has, and none ever will, measure up in value to that of the home newspaper. So we might well conclude by inventing this one: a man's mail will reach his wastebasket when nothing else will.

FREE SPEECH

It was remarked in our hearing the other day that there is no free speech in this country. They feel that a fearless thinker is put down by interests that profit by existing wrongs.

Of course, if some leather throated orator gets up on a soap box, and tells the crowd to "rise", "throw off the shackles," overturn the government by force, he will be invited to move on, or retire into seclusion. Only a weak government will tolerate those who openly defy it.

Though it is not often true that free speech is stopped because of actually seditious utterances, yet it is asserted that through subtle forms of business and social pressure, such liberty of speech is often prevented, so that it becomes difficult to accomplish reforms. Many editors, it is declared, are prevented by various influences from speaking their minds. Ministers, it is said, are often hushed up. Business men, it is claimed often fail to say what they think, for fear of losing trade.

There is a shameful streak of cowardice in human nature. It forces many to keep silent when they ought to speak. But before one admires himself too much as a hero and martyr, he should question his own motives and methods. Possibly the community disapproves of him, not because of his outspoken sincerity, but because he gives out little but aimless knocking and futile criticism. His independance may not be so much devotion to a lofty ideal, as the garrulous utterances of a man who likes to hear himself talk.

Free expression of honest thought is a fine thing. We need it, and commonly get a good deal of it. Yet the people who say little, but quietly do the things that need to be done in their home towns, may be quite as useful.

Even a second-hand booster is better than a new knocker.

An example of optimism is the man who, tho lost on the desert, found that even the cactus had its good points.

GRACE J. CALL

Another old resident of Campbell joined the colony "over there" last week when Mrs. Grace J. Call answered the final summons.

Mrs. Call has been very ill for months and two blood transfussions had been tried in an effort to restore her vitality, but she passed peacefully away on Friday at her home on North Central Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Call were residents of Campbell for several years but later resided in other parts. Some time ago they returned and purchased the property on Central Avenue belonging to Miss Luella Caldwell, and made that their home.

Mrs. Call was born in Delphi, N. Y., and would have been fifty-eight years of age next March.

Games at Monte Carlo Not Run on the Square

According to the annual statement of the corporation, which runs the gambling house at Monte Carlo, the gross receipts there last year were 110,653,000 francs and the profits were 60,000,000 francs, or more than half of the receipts.

Those are figures that should give thought to the players who frequent that famous casino. Luck does not count at such an establishment, for the players, considered as a group, are fighting mathematics all the time and are sure to lose. But the obvious and undenied mathematical advantages of the "house" in the games played at Monte Carlo are far from being 2 to 1. Therefore there must be other and secret advantages in the management's favor.

There is no escaping that conclusion, and yet it will be escaped by the multitude of foolish folk in whom the hope of beating the bank never dies. They not only fight arithmetic to a degree which they could themselves compute if they would, but they fight tricks and devices unknown to them.—From "Topics of the Times," in the New York Times.

HOPED TO DO BETTER

"This morning in my first game of golf I made it in fifty."

"Great—simply great!"

"I hope to do better at the second hole tomorrow, however."

One Thing Overlooked

A Rutland (Vt.) motorist who has taken out every conceivable kind of insurance on his automobile found that the ambitious agent who sold him policies omitted one—protection from damage by animals—much to the sorrow of the car driver. He went on a fishing trip in the wilds of Vermont and left the car at a clearing overnight. While the driver was sleeping in a nearby camp a porcupine climbed into the automobile which was an open one and dined on the leather upholstery.

Receipt of a mysterious letter bearing the postmark of an Iowa town and containing $30 in currency, with the explanation in pencil, "Conscience money—S. A. G.," puzzles Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joens, Lodi, San Joaquin county, vineyardists. They left Iowa twenty-three years ago and say they are unable to account for the writer or the money.

Fred Worthington of Laytonville, Mendocino county, has sold his ranch containing twenty acres for $10,000. Three years ago Worthington bought the property for $1,400 and built a home and other buildings on the land.

JUNIOR RED CROSS AIDS PEACE BY BIG GROWTH

Gains 142,000 Members in Year in Schools Throughout United States.

A new high level in peace time membership of the American Junior Red Cross is recorded for 1925—its ranks numbering 5,738,648 school girls and boys—a gain of 142,000.

This unique and powerful children's organization started as a war measure, but today is one of the greatest influences for peace ever known. An increasing participation in local programs of service has featured their year's growth. It is indicated that to a greater degree than ever pupils in the schools are performing individual and collective acts of service in a true Red Cross spirit.

The success of the Junior swimming program, launched last year through co-operation of the Life-Saving Service of the Red Cross, has led to a determination to make it a regular feature of both these branches.

An outstanding feature of the Juniors' work this year was the participation for the first time of a Junior Red Cross worker in the disaster relief operations following the tornado in Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana. Schools in many more fortunate localities displayed a keen interest in sending toys and books for the use of the children in the disaster area.

The Junior Red Cross porgram has flourished not alone in settled communities, but has been extended to Indian schools, and to native Alaskan schools where many Eskimo children undertook Junior work. In addition, the international correspondence between schools is proving more and more popular. American schools are now corresponding with those in thirty-four countries.

Strong Membership Appeal In Red Cross Disaster Relief

Asking themselves "What if disaster should visit our city?" the leading citizens of many communities of the United States have adopted the Scout motto to "Be Prepared."

Impressed by the frequency and the wide range of peace time calamities in their country, they have organized their communities with the thoroughness which normal conditions permit, against the possibility of a time when there will be no chance for thought or plan. Red Cross Chapters in many localities are similarly prepared.

Seventy-five farmers and dairymen from Butte and adjoining counties attended a dairymen's meeting at the C. E. Baxter ranch in Durham Tuesday. H. R. Belton and Ed Gordon of the agricultural extension service spoke to them on what constituted a good dairy cow and what the surroundings of a dairy should be.

Representatives of canning companies in San Joaquin county, report the canned fruit and vegetable market to be in the best condition that it has been in a number of years. Many of the canneries have already sold their pack for the season and are accepting no further orders for this year's delivery.

Mrs. S. E. Pinches of Laytonville has sold a ranch which she owns, located near Ukiah, Mendocino county, to Dr. A. Hanson. There are several large mineral springs on the property which will be developed. The new owner will build a sanitarium and a modern hotel for the accommodation of guests.

Growers of Muscat raisin grapes in Kings county are preparing their trays for drying. Last year three-fourths of the Muscat crop of this county was shipped east fresh, but apparently the bulk of the crop will be made into raisins this year, due to the unsettled condition of the fresh grape market.

Architects are preparing plans for a reinforced concrete theater building for the Rex Theater Company of Santa Calara.

An examination of the registration at the Davis farm school, San Joaquin county, shows that it is attracting students from all parts of the world.

The first consignment of brown Monarch butterflies has arrived in Bolinas, Marin county. The butterflies are hatched in the high Sierras in the summer and, after laying their eggs for the next year's crop, gather in vast hordes and fly hundreds of miles to the shores of Bolinas bay, where they congregate for the winter.

Twenty Years Progress and Development

Foreseeing the great future that was to be, and in anticipation of the needs for an organization to meet the requirements of this great growing commonwealth with ever increasing demands for Light, Heat, and Power, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company was incorporated, October, 1905.

These twenty years have seen the Pacific Gas and Electric Company grow, until today it ranks as the second largest gas and electric utility in the United States.

Joined with this growth, has been a rapid increase in manufactured products, agriculture and business in general, occasioned by impressive expansion in population.

Today this Company serves three-quarters of a million customers and the service is rendered at a cost within the reach of all.

The popularity of the Company is maintained by 11,400 loyal and carefully trained employees, giving quick, courteous service.

Confidence in the management of this utility and its future prosperity, is expressed through the 75,086 security holders who have invested their money to finance this enterprise, so vital to the future development of the great State of California.

The policy that has brought about such a gratifying condition, will be continued and expanded and California will be kept in the front rank in gas and electric development.
